All Carmel Pays Loving Tribute to Those Who Served

Cornerstone of Memorial Fountain Placed in Position

So far as a proper celebration of Armistice Day was concerned, the life and being of Monterey County's celebration was centered in our own City of Carmel by-the-Sea.

All are agreed that it was a splendid and a long-to be remembered event. It is especially gratifying to know that Carmel has not only provided a lasting tribute "to those who served," but that this city is the first community in the county to actually accomplish something.

Beautiful weather started the day off right, and when the bugle sounded the advance for the paraders a concourse of two thousand people was assembled along the line of march.

On the reviewing stand were Col. J. N. Jenkins, Dr. C. A. McCollom, Trustee William T. Kibbler, Mayor J. A. Dougherty, Father R. M. Mestres, Rev. Fred Sheldon, Hon. J. H. Andresen, W. L. Overstreet, Edward Hatton Gen. W. S. Schuyler, a Grand Army Veteran (name unknown) Dr. Alfred Burton and C. Sumner Greene.

The laying of the memorial cornerstone by Col. Jenkins, U. S. A., and J. P. Pryor, Commander of the Monterey Peninsula American Legion Post, was a short but impressive ceremony which marked the beginning of a most important event.

Round after round of applause greeted the parading soldiers, school children and former service men, and the inspiring march music of the Eleventh Cavalry Band roused the enthusiasm of the multitude.

Frequent applause greeted the eloquent oration delivered by Hon. J. H. Andresen. He made a plea for patriotism, conservatism and exact justice to all, and cited history and precedent to maintain that the determining factor in deciding the affairs of men and nations was an enlightened public opinion.

No wonder that upon the occasion of the second fire that menaced Carmel recently the soldiers themselves asked that they be allowed to "save Carmel." They surely must have had a pre-vision of the luncheon prepared for them and other guests by Mrs. Alice Josselyn and her very efficient corps of helpers.

New Directory Published

The Peninsula Directory Company has recently compiled and delivered a very up to date and comprehensive directory. The information is gathered from Carmel, Monterey, Pacific Grove, Seaside, Pebble Beach and Del Monte.

An interesting fact in connection with this work is that the population of a locality is based on the multiplication of the number of heads of houses by 2½. According to this method of figuring Carmel has now a steady, permanent adult population of 1250. The information in the directory was secured by means of a door to door canvass.

Pine Needles

Mrs. Katheryn R. Botsch is visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. W. W. Johnson for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Seidenèck have returned from a month's visit with relatives at Winters.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Charleston are here from Washington, D. C. They will remain a month or more.

Mrs. Ermine Foye Shortridge of Piedmont has leased for a year the White cottage at Camino Real.

Mrs. Tisdale and Mrs. E. Bryant have returned to their home in Oakland. They were here for a week.

Percy Parkes has the contract for F. P. Foster's new home, and the building is now under construction.

General W. S. Schuyler has arrived to start construction on his new home in North Carmel, at Fourth and Camino Real.

Realtor Calvin C. Hogle has purchased a section of land at Carmel Highlands, near Wildcat, comprising several acres.

Miss Strong will return to Berkeley about the first of next month. Recently she had a visit from her sister, Mrs. Edward Locan.

Mrs. J. C. L. Fish of Palo Alto, is spending a few months at her home on Camino Real. At present she is visiting with Mrs. Kimball.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hansen of Oakland are in Carmel this week, intent on buying a home here. Their friend, Mrs. Hale, recently purchased four lots in the Eighty-acre tract.

The Pitkin family of Oak Park, Ill., who spent the summer at Highlands Inn, have purchased the Whitcomb property. Dr. and Mrs. Whitcomb will build a new home on the lot adjoining.

A chimney fire last week at the home of Mrs. Ada Bell Champlin caused more excitement than the danger warranted, the blaze being quickly extinguished with the assistance of neighbors.

Miss Elsa Vale of Berkeley was a week end visitor here. The feature of the Armistice Day program which interested her was the vaudeville show. She has had much experience in amateur theatricals.

Building at Carmel Highlands, as well as in Carmel, is active. Miss Maurer is having redwood logs hauled from down the coast for her new house at the Highlands, on the hill just above the Crafey place.

Mrs. Ada Howe Kent's stone house, which was started some time ago, is well under way. Mrs. Kent owns eighteen acres at the Highlands, and her home will undoubtedly be one of the show places of that section.

Miss Grace Graham spent last week-end in her new cottage on the Point. Miss Graham has lately been appointed executive secretary of the Pacific Division of the American Red Cross. The San Francisco office of this division has jurisdiction over the Red Cross work of five states—California, Nevada, Oklahoma, Arizona and Utah.

Mrs. Carrie Grantzow came up from Los Angeles last week for a brief visit here.

Visitors here, for a fortnight, from Sacramento are Mr. and Mrs. Zitlau. Mrs. Zitlau is a banker.

Miss Cornelia Clampett is leaving shortly for the East. Her first visit will be with friends at Bloomington, Illinois.

After his strenuous work in connection with the Armistice Day program, Winsor Josselyn is spending this week with Brother Tal in San Francisco.

Miss Florence Wilson and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kellogg, motored down from Piedmont to spend the week end in Miss Wilson's cottage.

The exhibition of small paintings and thumb box sketches will continue open two days each week for a time—Monday and Saturday afternoons, 2 to 5 o'clock.

Miss Katharine Cooke was down from San Francisco for the week end. She missed the cornerstone ceremonies, but was here for the vaudeville. She said it was "great," and she knows.

Mrs. Frederick R. Bechdolt and Mrs. L. E. Gottfried are just home from a ten days' trip in Southern California. They visited with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hale at Fullerton in Orange County.

On Sunday evening next, baseball, New England eats and comedia will be in order at Rancho La Playa, beginning at 2:30. Preparations are well under way for the Thanksgiving eve dinner dance next Wednesday.

Traffic regulations put into effect by Grand Marshal Joseph J. Mora and City Marshal Gus Englund were well nigh perfect. Not a single accident occurred, notwithstanding over a thousand autos were parked in the vicinity of the reviewing stand.

Congressman J. Arthur Elston, who recently announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election, was here last week. Mr. and Mrs. Elston are looking forward to the early construction of their residence here.

On Wednesday evening of last week Mrs. Ralph C. Harrison entertained guests at dinner at the Blue Bird Tea room. Those present were Mrs. W. E. Keepers, Miss A. H. Birdseye, Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Mrs. Butcher, Mrs. Williams and Miss Star Sani.

Miss Portia Sweet and Miss Charlotte Perry, of the Rocky Mountain School of Dancing, at Steamboat Springs, Colo., have arrived in Carmel. They will shortly move into Mrs. Cooke's house on the water front, and the local school will then be opened.

Mother Carrington sustained a severe fall at her home recently which resulted in an injured hip. It was several hours before she received attention. Dr. Frank Hart of Pacific Grove is attending her, assisted by Mrs. Elva Hoehn, hospital nurse, whose home is in Carmel.

Favorable Vote Should Be Cast to Secure Dunes

Two-third Vote Required to Carry Bonding Proposition

On next Tuesday, November 22, the voters of Carmel will decide at the polls whether the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea is to own the sand dunes or whether they are to be diverted to commercial uses.

It will require the affirmative votes of two thirds of those actually voting to carry the proposition, and it is to be hoped a large and representative vote will be cast.

At the only meeting of citizens where the merits of the bond issue were thoroughly discussed pro and con, a resolution to endorse the proposition carried almost unanimously—only two out of the forty odd votes cast being against it.

In the event that the bond election carries it will mean that the City of Carmel by the Sea will own for all time not only the almost eleven acres of beach and sand dunes north of the prolongation of Ocean Avenue, but the beach and bath house property to the south as well. In addition to this is included all of block 69, bounded by Ocean Avenue, Mission Street, Junipero Avenue and Sixth Street. It will mean that Carmel's beautiful water front will be preserved unimpaired for the benefit of the people, and above all, it will mean that this property will not be sold to private investors to be converted inevitably into a cheap imitation of Coney Island, as has already happened to many of the seaside resorts of Southern and Northern California.

Carmel has grown more rapidly, proportionately, than any city in the state within the past few years. The type of people settling here is most desirable. Those who have made their homes in Carmel have been drawn here because of its climate, its beauty, and the character of the residents already living in the city and its vicinity. Once destroy Carmel's beauty, or mar it with the introduction of tawdry, blatant beach concessions, and the charm of the place will vanish never to return.

If the beach properties now offered to the city at a mere fraction of their present market value get into the hands of individual buyers, it is merely a question of time, and a very short time, before they are employed for amusement purposes of a character such as will make of Carmel an undesirable place of residence for many of the people who now live here.

Carmel's beauty and Carmel's prosperity are inseperably linked together.

They must stand or fall together.

A meeting will be held this afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. R. A. Rhodes, Pacific Grove, for the purpose of organizing a joint chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, to include Monterey, Pacific Grove and Carmel. All members at large or those eligible are invited to be present.

GORGEOUS "QUEEN OF SHEBA" AT MONTEREY

Perhaps the most gorgeously arrayed of any moving picture actress in any production, Miss Betty Blythe, playing the Queen in the big Fox spectacle, "Queen of Sheba," at the Monterey Theatre November 23, 24 and 25, has twenty-six changes of costume, each dazzlingly beautiful, with head-dress and hair dressing all its own. These costumes were designed especially for this production by Margaret Whistler, official costumer for William Fox.

Miss Blythe is in her own person a most stylish woman; in fact, she is always considered "stunning" in her attire. An importer in Los Angeles, who gathers the cream of the costume product of Paris and New York, counts Miss Blythe as her favorite customer, and invariably reserves her most distinctive models for her. Miss Blythe, perfect in figure, is one of the fortunate few who can carry equally well the simple and severe designs of Worth or the bizarre effects of Poiret.

When you go away, have the Pine Cone sent to you. You'll enjoy it.

"PEACE"

Denver, Colo., Nov. 7, 1921.

Editor Pine Cone:

World peace is one of humanity's oldest dreams; prophets have foretold it, bards have sung it and almost unconsciously mankind has wrought for it. It is an ideal for which each upward step of the race has tended.

What a beautiful dream is peace! Her touch heals and her voice is a benediction. Every virtue flowers in her presence; fraternity, Love's other name, is her child. How sorely this sad old would is in need of her. She leads science through barren fields and across arid wastes and they become waving seas of wheat and corn, fragrant with clover and the rose. She walks by fetid tenements and I see wan women and weary men drinking in the sunshine of God's sunlight spaces and the happy laugh of care-free childhood comes across the green sward—the street gamin is no more, in her presence. She passes factory and mill, and troops of stunted children swarm out to grow fair and strong and wise in another atmosphere, while the dingy walls grow pale as the stars that shine at night and low ceilings rise, fresh air goes in and the lilt of a song floats out; dreary drudgery is done and gladsome labor begins.

She walks by the mines, and the toilers in the caverns find the light and cheer they gave to the lives of others a part of their own. She walks by the prison; the iron gates swing outward, those Pariahs are to have a chance—take a man's place in the world for a man's pay; the refractory will go to the hospital—crime is a social disease; the tribe of Ishmael has departed, there will be no descendants. The babble of the insane is hushed, hate and fear are gone. She walks by mine and flaming forge and thundering hammer and throbbing engine and towering skyscraper and ward of stricken ones and says, "Here I will teach valor to my sons and daughters, the courage that serves and saves, not destroys." She walks by laboratory and says, "Here will I teach a love and reverence for the truth that shall ennoble and emancipate the race, and there in field and mill I shall show the beauty of service; the toiler must wear the thinker's crown."

She walked to the armory; it had become a great concert hall, and the flags of the dreadnaught dipped as the children, following her, sent up a shout of joy on their excursion. She clambered to the great wireless tower and through God's own blue she sent her benediction to the people of every land: "Peace be with you; the struggle with each other has given place to the struggle for each other." From every shore there came a joyous shout, for "The war-drum throbbed no longer and the battle-flags were furled in the parliament of man, the Federation of of the World."

LUCILE LANGDON.

AN APPRECIATION

November 12, 1921.

Editor Pine Cone:

It gives me pleasure to add "a drop in the bucket" of appreciation and satisfaction which the local people are feeling since the vaudeville show of last Friday night. It was a revelation of what our young people can do if they try.

I confess that when purchasing a ticket I was actuated more by a desire to "help along" than from a feeling that I should be thrilled by anything I might see or hear, but came away, like the others, knowing that I had had my money's worth, and then some.

To mention any one number especially would be unjust to the other performers—all were good. But it goes without saying that the "creme de la creme" of the evening was the musical comedy. Very little of the amateur about that. The score is simply delightful; the book sensible, and both a credit to our local composers. It far exceeded in production many of the musical comedies I have seen on the stages of city theatres.

YOUR DUTY TO CARMEL

The opportunity for the city to acquire the sand dunes, comprising ten acres of land, and an entire block of land near the business section, will be presented to the voters of Carmel next Tuesday.

The price asked for these two splendid parcels of land is much below their actual value. The property is to be utilized for recreational purposes, but even if it is not so used, it would still be good business for the municipality to secure it.

It requires two thirds of the total vote cast to carry the proposition. Be sure to vote—and vote "Yes."

TURNING TOWARD HOME

Americans are being much criticised cized nowaday for their lack of homelife. "Anywhere but home" appears to be the motto of about ninety-five per cent of the men and women—yes, and even children. At least that was true during the war period and immediately following, and to a considerable extent today. But the tide is turning; the trend is back toward home. Jazz and the bright lights may be all right for a change, but the tinsel fades and the everlasting "ham" and "boom" of drums and horns falls heedless on the jaded ear. We are getting over our war-time spree. We are going back home. And a mighty good thing, too; for disregard for home is one of the first indications of individual degeneration and national decay.

We are learning over again the lesson that a few true friends are better than many acquaintances, that there is just as much entertainment in a book, and far more instruction, than in the average movie; that home-cooking is better than that served in hotels and restaurants, and that there is more real pleasure to be had in the quiet of the family circle than in the jazz-shattered atmosphere of a gilded cafe.

It is stated that the historical series of song recitals for which Madame Clara Clemens, mezzo-soprano, had been engaged, would first be sung at Dresden. It is Munich that has established this series, said to be the first that has ever been given for a singer. Historical recitals for musicians are frequent, but it has been difficult to select a voice capable of meeting the high artistic requirements, and a mentality in consenance with the high purpose of the events, which are to chronicle the development of song. Madame Clemens will appear in New York on December 10.

BOOKS AND AUTHORS

Mowry Saben seems to have it in for Upton Sinclair. Writing of the author of "The Jungle" and "The Brass Check", he says: "He seems to thrive so heartily upon hatred of all things that one is disposed to believe he must surely hate himself. Ever since he took the world into his confidence to the extent of revealing how he formerly suffered from stomach ailment and migraine, and how much benefit he derived from fasting, Mr. Sinclair has manifested an intense degree of indignation against the healthy human animal who enjoys eating."

Problems of the Pacific will be most important at the international conference now being held in Washington. "The Pacific Triangle", by Sydney Greenbie, which has just come from the presses, deals with the lands and the millions of peoples, white and brown and yellow, of the entire Pacific region. It will be indispensable during the conference and during the discussions of Pacific affairs which will continue for months afterward. Besides, it is a fascinating narrative of travel and keen observation, based on six years of wandering among the Pacific peoples.

In "The Man in Gray," Thomas Dixon, author of "The Clansman" and "The Southerner", gaves us the first novel centering around the picturesque figure of General R. E. Lee. It is an historical romance of the finest type, faithfully portraying the Old South of glorious plantation days, the march of events that brought on the Civil War, the publication of Uncle Tom's Cabin, the rise of John Brown, the firing on Fort Sumter, and other thrilling episodes of the great conflict. And through it all runs the golden thread of absorbing, stirring romance.

Booth Tarkington has scored again in his "Alice Adams". The character Alice Adams is the girl of to-day thrown into circumstances that a large percentage of to-day's young women must face. These are circumstances of meanness, from which she is ambitious to free herself. She is beset also with a limited vision and a deficiency of "background". Her struggle is brave, clever, and, if not as gratifying to Alice as she might have wished, it at least reaches for her a compromise that has an encouraging outlook. The great thing about the novel is its truth,—Tarkington's own exquisite kind of realism—the real realism—"a nice intermingling of life's shadow with its sunlight."

"The Briary Bush," by Floyd Dill, is the story of a modern marriage in which two rebellious young lovers try to keep their mutual freedom. They escape from the traditional bondage which they fear, only to find that freedom has perils and disappointments of its own. Their efforts to solve their problems and their inevitable misunderstandings—not only of each other, but of themselves—make a true and enlightening picture of young American life. The effect of new ideas upon an eager new generation is dramatically—and dispassionately—shown in this history of Felix Fay's adventures in Chicago.

A Thanksgiving Offering From a Grateful Heart

Lord, we who set the furrow deep,
And sow the seeds of industry,
For the rich guerdon that we reap
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we who make the anvils ring,
Who rive and weld laboriously,
For all the wage our labors bring
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we who watch the spindles ply,
The shuttles flying dizzily,
For every boon our efforts buy
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we who build with busy hand
Of wood or stone unceasingly,
For whatsoe'er our arts command
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we who delve in under-earth
Far from Thy sunlight fair and free,
For whatsoe'er we win of worth
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we who hoist the straining sail,
And plow the green waves of the sea,
For what our stormy tasks avail
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we the toilers of the brain,
Who clutch at dreams that cling or flee,
For whatsoever heights we gain
Give thanks to Thee!

Lord, we Thy children, small and great,
Beneath Thy care, where'er it be,
The while Thy grace we supplicate,
Give thanks to Thee!

MUSIC MATTERS

The music critic of the San Francisco Chronicle, writing of Jascha Helfetz, the Russian violinist, recently returned from Australia, says: "Elapsed time has brought about no appreciable difference in his playing. His readings have the same calm serenity, the same poise that seems not so much a cool aloofness as a rapt contemplation of beauty. His technique has the same magical agility that surmounts all difficulties without the appearance of effort.

"No great transformation could have been expected, for twenty months, mostly spent in the distractions of touring, do not go far in the ripening of a talent already so well formed. What changes are to come will depend entirely on the maturing process in his personal development."

One of the first pianos manufactured in London now holds honor place in the musical instrument gallery of the Golden Gate Park Memorial Museum. The piano was purchased recently at a private sale, and it is known that its manufacture dates back to the early days of the nineteenth century, when piano making had not reached the present day stage of mechanical perfection.

Its old mahogany case bears the name of the makers, "Gerock & Wolf, Piano-forte Manufacturers, 70 Cornhill, London, G. and T. Turner," and it is thought to be one of the earliest uprights ever put upon the market. When looking at its ivory keys, yellowed by age, one goes back in memory to the early days when many famed musicians sat before this instrument and made sweet music for the hardy California pioneers.

Melba McCreery, the young dramatic soprano who recently made her New York debut at the Hippodrome, as the soloist with the first indoor concert of the season of the Goldman Concert Band, has aroused considerable interest because of a recently printed story, duly authenticated, that she inherited her musical talent from Dame Melba through a similarity of names. Miss McCreery is the only musician in her family, and was christened at birth with her present cognomen, which is interesting.

Announcement is made of the publication of a book which will be highly interesting to musical lovers. It is the long expected "Leschetizky As I Knew Him", by Ethel Newcomb. Miss Newcomb has written this book in a most ingratiating style, and advance copies indicate that it will appeal quite as strongly to music lovers as to music students.

COMMUNITY CLUB FAVORS DUNE BONDS

At the last meeting of the Community Club, on November 7, the purchase of the sand dunes by the city was thoroughly discussed, with the result that when the question was put to vote almost the entire club was heartily in favor of such purchase. Only two dissenting votes were heard.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Club this afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Pine Inn, to further the interests of the bond election.

Anyone whose car may be used on the day of election, Tuesday, November 22, please send word to this meeting or leave word at the Pine Cone office. There are many voters who cannot get to the polls unless conveyed.

Birthday.

Little Robert D., two and one-half years old, of Franklin, has a ten-year-old cousin, Gordon, who to his baby mind, is the hero in all that takes place, and whatever Gordie says or does is all right. Robert's mother had been telling him about Christmas, and why it was celebrated.

One evening after a strenuous day of play with the big cousin, when mother put Robert to bed, she said:

"And why do we have Christmas, Robert? Whose birthday is it?"

"Santa and Gordie's," promptly replied the youngster. — Indianapolis News.

FIVE-MILLION DOLLAR DURANT AUTO PLANT BEGUN IN OAKLAND

Thousands were present last Saturday as ground was broken for the new Durant Motor plant at 107th avenuw and East 14th street, Oakland, representing an initial investment of $2,000,000, and a final investment of $5,000,000.

Joseph H. King, president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, acted as chairman of the day, and introduced Senator A. H. Breed, who spoke on behalf of Governor W. D. Stephens.

Congressman Joseph R. Knowland made an eloquent speech, followed by Mayor John L. Davies, R. C. Durant, president of the company, and Mr. George Larrabee.

The plant is to have a capacity of 25,000 automobiles per year, and from this factory cars will be distributed throughout the Western United States, the Hawaiian Islands, Mexico, Central America and the Orient.

Thousands of stockholders were in attendance at the opening exercises.

Mr. George Larrabee, sales agent, is now in Carmel, placing stock in this company with many of our wealthy citizens. His headquarters are with Mr. Calvin C. Hogle.

Beginning in December the new fire siren will be sounded to remind the members of the fire department of the regular meeting night.

VAUDEVILLE SHOW PROVIDES FUNDS TO TO BUILD MEMORIAL

Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the group of young men who conceived and carried out the manifold details of the two vaudeville shows given here on Armistice night. It was a tremendous task, and only enthusiasm for the object to be attained could have induced the hard work and self sacrifice involved. As a result a fund of about three hundred dollars is available to build the Memorial Fountain.

Every act on the program was a "headliner," and no one will gainsay the fact that the performers not only tried to please, but that they did please.

For long it has been contended that a musical show could not be given in Carmel, because we did not have here the young people and voices in sufficient number. The successful presentation of "Harem Scarum" eliminates the old contention. It is true we had some splendid help from outside of Carmel, but nevertheless, we can give a musical show, and will do it again. The costuming and make up of both big numbers has evoked much favorable comment.

"Vaudevillainy" is a skit that would go well on any circuit. What particularly commends it is the fact that though it is all horseplay, it is clean. The authors and actors are to be congratulated.

The audiences were made up of all of Carmel and numerous residents of Monterey, Pacific Grove and Salinas. The committee is grateful for two packed houses.

BOXES, OLD CHRISTMAS FAD

Ancient Custom at One Time Developed into Demand as Right and Became Nuisance.

THE bestowal of Christmas boxes is of great antiquity, and was formerly the bounty of well disposed persons who were willing to contribute something toward the industrious. Later the gift came to be demanded as a right and became somewhat of a nuisance. Long ago the Roman Catholic priests had masses for everything, and if a ship went to the West Indies they had a box in her under the protection of some patron saint, into which the sailors put money or other valuables in order to secure the prayers of the church. At Christmas these boxes were opened and were thence called Christmas boxes. In England the day after Christmas is known as "Boxing day," from the Christmas boxes which used to be in circulation, and in the British museum can be seen boxes covered with green glaze with a slit in the side for money and presents.

CHRISTMAS BAG FOR GUESTS

Container for Presents Attached to Backs of Chairs With Bow of Red Satin Ribbon.

THE Christmas bag is an innovation planned by one housekeeper. The breakfast table is to be decorated with a mirror in the center, outlined as a star by holly sprigs, and with a slender cut glass vase in the center holding red chrysanthemums. Long-stemmed flowers also radiate from the central star with the blossoms toward the plates of those for whom the flowers are intended. Every napkin lies beneath a Christmas card with a sprig of holly tied upon it with red ribbon, and to the back of every chair is tied a bag with a big red satin bow. The bags are of all sizes, and each is full of individual gifts. One is an opera bag, another a shopping bag in black and gold, still another is brown leather and gold nailheads, another a bag for collars and cuffs, another a gay laundry bag, one is suggestive of the scraps grandmother will put into it, and the other of books that a small girl will carry to school. All are as dainty and fine as careful workmanship and good materials can make them, and there will be fun emptying the materials out of the various bags.

Exhibition Still Attracts

The exhibition of paintings by Peninsular artists continues to attract visitors to the Arts and Crafts gallery.

This week several changes have been made in the exhibit, Gunnar Wilforss' water colors have been withdrawn and will be greatly missed. Mr. Wilforss has recently sold a group of his paintings in San Francisco. Miss de Neale Morgan has replaced her triptich of the dunes with a striking Point Lobos painting, a brilliant rock point jutting out into a still, blue sea. A characteristic group of cypress trees is also exhibited by Miss Morgan. Mr. Botke has added a colorful bit of the Salinas road, a warmly-lighted group of buildings called "The Old Rancho." Mrs. Botke has exchanged her mysterious, enchanting "The Road" for another pictured fairy story.

Miss Ida M. Curtis, Miss Elizabeth Brown, Mr. Parkhurst and Mr. Price have also made changes in their exhibits.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Community Club of Carmel at 3 o'clock today, at Pine Inn, to consider the forthcoming bond election.

Mrs. Joseph G. Hooper, after a ten days' stay here, returned to San Francisco Sunday evening, accompanied by her husband and sons.

A special Thanksgiving dinner will be given at the Blue Bird Tearoom. Reservations should be made on or before Monday, the 21st. adv

Phil Salterbae's has joined the office force of the Carmel Investment Co. He will have especial charge of insurance, but will also be active in other departments. He plans to make his home here.

The Blue Bird Tearoom was given over to Mr. and Mrs. Robt W. Ritchie, last Sunday evening for a dinner to friends. Mrs. Ritchie is soon to depart for the East, and this affair gave her opportunity to say farewell.
